GREAT INDIAN MEMORIAL AND MUSEUM

HOUSTON, TEXAS, DECEMBER 28, 1911.

To the Great Chiefs, Members and Representatives of the G. C. U. S., the Great Chiefs of the Several Reservations, and the Members of the Improved Order of Red Men Generally, Greeting:

On December 19th, 1911, the following Bill was introduced in the Senate and simultaneously in the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States. The Bill is known as Senate Bill No. 3953, and as House Bill No. 16,313, both Bills reading as follows, to wit:

A BILL

Providing for the erection of an American Indian Memorial and Museum Building in the City of Washington, District of Columbia:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the sum of FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS be, and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the erection of an American Indian Memorial and Museum Building in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, in which to safely keep such relics of husbandry, art, literature, landwork, warfare and the chase, as may be contributed by the IMPROVED ORDER OF RED MEN OF THE UNITED STATES and such other kindly disposed associations and persons. Said building to be erected under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior and be under his supervision and control."

The Special Committee in charge of this work will convene in Washington, D. C., February 23, 1912, when the Congressional Committee will consider and pass upon these bills.

The work of promulgating this great Indian Memorial and Museum has been duly and legally fathered by the Improved Order of Red Men, and it therefore becomes the duty of every member of this Order to immediately take an active interest in the work necessary to win success. It is hoped that every member of this Order will immediately write a letter to his respective Congressman and United States Senator, and also take an active interest in the work to be done by the different branches of this Order in different localities. Correspondence with United States Senators and Congressmen should refer to the respective numbers of these bills.

Resolutions

The Resolutions in this regard, adopted by the several Great Council Sessions held during the fall months, should be properly certified by the Great Sachems and Great Chief of Records, and forwarded to their respective United States Senators.

Petitions following the copy herein given, should be circulated by members of each Tribe; procuring the signatures not only of members of the Order but of all good citizens in the respective localities, and forwarded to the Congressmen of such Congressional Districts. The respective Reservation Great Chiefs should furnish copies of these petitions to the Tribes and Councils for their use, urging them to use all due energy in procuring the signatures and forwarding to their respective Congressmen.

Expenses

Reservation Great Chiefs should recommend the Tribes and Councils under their jurisdiction to hold public entertainments during the months of January and February; to raise funds with which to promulgate this movement and to pay the expenses thereof, and from such funds the local expenses of the State movement should be deducted, the net proceeds to go toward defraying the national movement.

FORM OF PETITION TO CONGRESSMEN

To the Hon. _____, Congressman for the _____ Congressional District, State of _____, Washington, D. C.
Dear Sir:—We, the undersigned, your constituents, members of the Improved Order of Red Men, and citizens generally, residing in the _____ Congressional District of the State of _____, hereby respectfully request and urge that you heartily support Senate Bill No. 3953 and House Bill No. 16,313, introduced in Congress, December 19, 1911, and being a bill providing for the erection of an American Indian Memorial and Museum Building in the city of Washington, District of Columbia.

We, the citizens of this District, believe that the history of our country should be properly preserved into future generations of our own people. That our country's history is incomplete without the history of the American Indian. That this great country of ours, which has been carved out of the domain of the Red Man, whose tribes are fast passing away, should erect this memorial as a matter of grateful memory to the noble race of people, and this the American people can well afford to do.

Respectfully submitted,

(Note—The above petition to contain the signature of members of the Order and citizens of the community, and then forwarded to the respective Congressmen.)

These petitions should be sent to the Congressmen from all parts of the United States as rapidly as possible and during the months of January and February, 1912.

Publicity

Reservation Great Chiefs and tribal members should see to it that the newspapers of the country are furnished with items of news regarding this great movement.

A Matter of Pride

It is now up to the Great Chiefs and members of the Order, generally, to put their hands to the plow and never look back until this work is accomplished.

The Improved Order of Red Men has fathered this movement, and the patriotic citizens of America will expect this Order to conduct it in a manner that shall guarantee success. If ever there was a time or work calling for united, active, energetic effort upon the part of the membership of this Order, now is the time and this is the movement.

W-o-r-k

We must WORK and work NOW and work EARNESTLY and work TOGETHER in this movement if we hope for success. Success is assured if we but WORK, and with SUCCESS in this movement, a monument will be erected to the Improved Order of Red Men that shall be as permanent as the history of our country and of which the entire membership may well be proud.

It is hoped that EVERY member of the Order who shall receive the above Message will immediately set about to aid in the accomplishment of the purpose desired and in the manner above suggested.

In Freedom, Friendship and Charity.

THE VERY GREATEST PROPHET.

Luke i. 57-80—Jan. 14.

"Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, for He hath visited and redeemed His people."—V. 68.

OF JOHN THE BAPTIST Jesus declared, "Verily I say unto you, of those born of women there hath not risen a greater Prophet than John the Baptist: and yet I say unto you that the least in the Kingdom of God is greater than he." (Luke vii. 28.)

These words are valuable as showing us that John was the last of the Prophets announcing the coming of Messiah and the beginning of the great work of selecting from amongst mankind a loyal class, to be associated with the Redeemer in His Messianic Kingdom.

John could not be of the Kingdom class. His grand work terminated before the Redeemer's sacrifice was finished—before Pentecostal blessings came accepting some as joint-heirs with Christ in His Kingdom. John himself seemed to understand this, for he declared, "He that hath the Bride is the Bridegroom," but I am the Bridegroom's friend and rejoice to hear His voice.—John iii. 29.

"And wrote—his name is John."

ing the Old Testament Prophets, that "Holy men of old spake and wrote as they were moved by the Holy Spirit;" that frequently they uttered deeper and broader truths than they themselves comprehended.

This is true of the prophecy of Zacharias, in this lesson. Verses 68-70 constitute the first division of this prophecy: praise to God. To Him all honor and praise are to be given for the fulfillment of His gracious promises of old, "for He hath visited and brought redemption to His people; He hath raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of His servant David."

Here, after the usual manner of prophecies, the thing about to be accomplished is spoken of as though it had been done.

As John the Baptist was born but six months before Jesus, it follows that the begetting of Jesus had already taken place at the time of this prophecy. The Holy Spirit spoke of the things begun, but not yet accomplished, as though finished: "He hath visited and brought redemption for His people."

This word redemption applies not only to the redeeming work accomplished by Jesus in the consecration of His life at baptism and down to the completion of His sacrifice at Calvary, but it is comprehensive enough to take in all the work of reclaiming humanity.

Deliverance From Enemies.

The second section or strophe of this prophetic poem runs from verse 71 to 75. It relates to the deliverance of God's people from the power of their enemies. One important thought here is that none but God's people will ever be delivered from the enemies here referred to.

During Messiah's reign of a thousand years, when all the blind eyes will be opened and all the deaf ears will be unstopped, and when the knowledge of the glory of God's character will be clearly revealed and the horribleness of sin be manifested—then many, now led captive by Satan at his will, will bow the knee and confess to the glory of God.

In other words, as Jesus said, His consecrated followers are His "little flock" of the present time. But during His glorious reign He will gather another flock. As He said, "Other sheep I have which are not of this fold—them also I must bring, that there may be one fold and one Shepherd."—John x. 16.

The Preparatory Work.

"One fold and one Shepherd" does not signify that all of the sheep will be of the same nature. On the contrary, the Apostle tells us that God's Plan is ultimately to "gather together under one Head (Shepherd) all things, both in heaven and in earth." (Ephesians i. 10.)

Of these "all things" the Church, the "elect and redeemed his people."

"Elect and redeemed his people."

chief, on the plane of divine nature. The Great Company, cherubim and angels will follow in order, and be deemed and restored mankind in human perfection will be the lowest order in the Divine fold.

The third section or strophe of this prophetic poem tells us of a work to be accomplished before the grand consummation of the destruction of all enemies and the lifting up of all accounted worthy to be sons of God. This is recorded in verses 76-79. It tells how John the Baptist would be the forerunner of the Lord's special Servant, Jesus, to pave the way for His great work. This great work would be to give the knowledge of salvation to thousands who were ready God's people, to show them "high calling" of this present Age.

BATTLE WITH A RAT.

Club Proves Better Than Pillow When Sleeper Is Attacked. (New York Evening Telegram.)

Any one wanting a perfectly good rat can have it today by calling on the morgue. The rat being dead has not as much market value as one with normal respiration, pulse and all that, but it looks natural. Among those who are not expected to call for the prize is Edward Howell, 30 years old, of 369 East Eighth street. Howell is today nursing two wounds on his right hand as a result of his introduction to the rat, and will have to buy more ammunition for his revolver.

According to the story he told when he went to Bellevue hospital to have his wounds cauterized and donate the body of the rat to the cause of science, he was asleep in his home when the rat aroused him by getting his thumb between its incisors and closing its jaws. Howell naturally woke up and kicked the rat. The rodent, not being accustomed to this sort of treatment, went back to remonstrate with Howell, who by this time took a revolver from under his pillow and started firing at him.

Each time the rat dodged, and the five shots went wild. Then he took a club that hung on the end of the bed and started for the rat with that. The rodent made a leap for life, and landing on the business end of the club ran up it to Howell's hand and bit him again. The man shook it off, and on the next heave the rat's obituary was ready for writing up.
